

HE'S BACK ON THE JOB—SAME OLD "BUTTON-UP-THE BACK" GAME ONLY IT'S WORSE!

Friend Husband has been rescued from the ranks of the unemployed.

Even since fashion declared a boycott on the buttons that "button up the back" husband has been without an occupation in the boudoir—without use in the daily business of wife's dressing.

And now comes trippingly along the paths of modes and styles the "laced in the back" shoe, down on his knees drops husband, tickled to death, no doubt, to be back on the job—back at the old business of buttoning or lacing up the back.

—o—o—

The man who is fast to his wife's apron strings is lucky to have a wife who will wear aprons in these days.